ATTENTION!

- ✓ Payment for price holding on Turkish Airlines and codeshare flights is a deposit payment. Billing for price holding transaction payment can only be done in cases where ticketing has not been performed or the transaction has been canceled due to user reasons. In cases where the price holding transaction fee is refunded, no invoice will be issued.
- ✓ Price holding transaction information can be viewed, and ticketing completed via the "My reservations" tab on the menu.
- ✓ Codeshare flight reservations made via online channels can only be ticketed via Turkish Airlines online channels.
- ✓ The legal and promotional rights for the flight are earned upon completion of the ticketing process.
- ✓ The rules stated at the time of ticketing apply for reissue and cancellations after the ticketing of the flight with price holding.
- ✓ The fare paid during price holding is refunded upon completion of the ticketing process.
- ✓ If the ticket with price holding is not ticketed within the specified time, the price holding fee will not be refunded if a reissue or cancellation is made in the price holding process other than online channels upon the passenger's request.
- ✓ The refund of the price holding fee is only valid in exceptional circumstances determined by Turkish Airlines, which may result in the completion of the ticketing process or the refund of the ticket fee.
- ✓ In case of multiple price holding for the same flight and passengers, all other price holding operations will be canceled by the system, with only one remaining. Price holding transactions canceled in this way are non-refundable.
- ✓ Turkish Airlines reserves the right to change ticket prices without notice from when price holding is activated until the completion of the ticketing process.
- ✓ In the event of a fare change on a flight that on price holding or changes made for an extraordinary reason, the price paid for price holding may be refunded via Turkish Airlines sales offices or call center. If passengers accept the new proposed flight, the price holding fee can only be refunded through ticketing.
- ✓ It is not possible to change the price holding process through online channels, to extend the price holding period or to cancel the reservation.
- ✓ Additional services such as flight-related seat selection and excess baggage claim can only be purchased after ticketing. It is not possible to purchase these services during the price holding process.
